Felecia J. Roseburgh Heads State's Minority and Women's Business Program

INDIANAPOLIS (December 3, 2010) – Indiana Department of Administration Commissioner Robert D. Wynkoop announced the appointment of Felecia J. Roseburgh as deputy commissioner for the agency's Minority and Women's Business Enterprise Division (MWBE). The appointment is effective Monday, Dec. 6.

MWBE actively promotes, monitors, and enforces the state's programs that provide an equal opportunity to minority and women-led businesses that seek to participate in the state's procurement and contracting process.

Ms. Roseburgh brings to IDOA a strong corporate background in diversity development, education and training, as well as program and project management. She previously held leadership positions at Cummins Inc, including director of global diversity relations.

"We are excited to have Felecia join the Indiana Department of Administration of our Minority and Women's Business Enterprise Division," said Commissioner Wynkoop. "Her prior corporate employment in diversity relations and business process improvement will prove invaluable as the division moves forward in support of Governor Daniels' minority and women's business initiatives."
